

The Scottish Typographical Circular [1857-1908]

A preliminary collation of extant copies of the Scottish Typographical Circular [STC] was undertaken by Dr Sydney J. Shep, Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand, during 2008 and 2009. This project was funded, in part, by the Bibliographical Society of America's 2008 Katharine Pantzer Fellowship in the British Book Trades.

All extant copies, both in print and microfilm, available at the National Library of Scotland and St Bride Printing Library in London, were sighted. A separate holdings list notes provenance details where available, identifies missing issues, and comments on relevant physical bibliographic details. A full list of missing issues is recorded in this file. Copies are also recorded in the British Library catalogue and these records are included at the end of this list; they have not yet been sighted, and thus have not be cross-referenced with the missing issues list. Furthermore, there are undoubtedly single, multiple, or scissored issues and items embedded in personal papers, institutional/corporate archives, and other holding institutions currently uncatalogued and awaiting discovery.

The aim of this collation is to provide a baseline for identifying locations, formats, and conditions of extant copies. In collaboration with SAPPHIRE [Scottish Archive of Printing and Publishing], the Scottish Print Employers' Federation, the Scottish Printing Archive Trust, and the National Library of Scotland, we also hope to aid in the discovery of missing issues in order to digitise and make publicly available this exceptional, though now rare, resource in the history of Scottish as well as international nineteenth-century printing and publishing. A similar but separate exercise will be undertaken in future with the subsequent Scottish Typographical Journal.

Should you have any questions, or can help us complete our survey, please do not hesitate to contact Dr Sydney J. Shep sydney.shep@vuw.ac.nz or PO Box 600, Wellington 6140, New Zealand.

Missing issues

- All extant copies (both paper and Microfilm) consulted at NLS and LSF
- This list prioritises missing paper copies
- Any microfilm copies without paper originals are marked with † symbol
- Any additional volume/issue notes are marked with * symbol
- Most issues are missing both front and back advertising wrappers, some only front wrapper [see holdings / bibliographic information for further details]
- Scottish Typographical Journal starts from Vol.XVIII, No.569 (January 1909)
